Rising Voices Wessex is looking to identify talented, passionate individuals to join its Trustee Board

Rising Voices Wessex is a charity that offers music and singing in a community-style choir to people affected by cancer as a means of helping people to regain confidence, health and wellbeing. With two choirs one based in Bournemouth and one in Poole it provides support for those affected – whether as patients’ carers or those who have lost a loved one to cancer.

Purpose: A dynamic Trustee Board combining professional skills of individuals with clinical, musical, public relations or business is critical for the success and sustainability of the charity. The knowledge and expertise that Trustees bring shape its strategy and goal of achieving excellence in providing and developing a truly beneficial health and wellbeing resource for the community.

The successful applicant to this post will be expected to have an understanding of the impact and effects that a diagnosis of cancer has on individuals. He/she will be motivated to help the charity to achieve its aims and ensure the organisation is effectively managed. The Trustee’s input to the Board will help determine the focus and direction of the organisation, enabling it to best serve people affected by cancer.

Skills we are looking for include:

- Board level experience is desirable.
- Good communication/interpersonal skills.
- Understanding and acceptance of legal duties, responsibilities and liabilities of Trusteeship.
- Strategic perspective and vision.
- Experience in goal setting, monitoring and performance.
- Commitment to the work of Rising Voices Wessex and what we set out to achieve.
- Ability to work collaboratively and constructively as a member of the board.

If you are prepared to give time and energy to directing our future and have an interest in supporting people affected by cancer, then why not join our team?
